Every time you send data over a network, it moves through layers:

Layer	Example	Purpose
Application	HTTP, DNS, SMTP	Actual data (e.g. web request)
Transport	TCP, UDP	Reliable delivery or speed
Network	IP	Routes data across networks
Data Link	Ethernet/Wi-Fi	Transfers frames within a local network
Physical	Cables, radio	Sends actual bits as signals